The Carrollton Girls Basketball team has had the reputation of being "The Hustlin' Lady Cavs." At first, many of the followers didn't see that characteristic in the 1984 version of the Lady Cavs. It was there, just not easy to see.

This team was special. There were no "Stars" to lean on. It was a total team effort. Nothing came easy. Very few games were easy wins. All the victories were the result of hard work.

The individuals started "getting in shape" in February. In the summer the team hosted a tournament of the best teams in the state including powerfull teams from class A and B schools. Carrollton didn't win any of those games, but they did "win" experience by playing against the very best.

In August, the team went to Northwood for a one week camp. In that experience, the girls came away with an impressive 13-1 record. The foundation for the regular season was there.

The regular season started the first day of school with a win over Nouvel Catholic Central. After that the season was full of ups and downs. The girls seemed to forget lessons learned at practice. The regular season had some highlights (2 good games against class A Saginaw High) and some "lowlights" (a 42 point loss to Midland Dow). The Lady Cavs finished with a 12-8 record.

With the "home-court advantage" for district tournaments, the girls had a chance to improve their image with the home town crowd. Three straight victories over Freeland, Michigan Lutheran Seminary, and Bay City All Saints, brought the District Championship Trophy to the C.H.S. Trophy Case.

Next on the road for the girls was the Regionals at Ithaca. The host team was no match for the Lady Cavs as they coasted to a 57-28 win. In the Regional finals, Montrose played a very physical game before falling to the Cavs 49-43.

At this point the team had lasted longer in the tournaments than most fans had expected. With the State Championship just three games away the girls were ready to defend the tradition of '79, '81, & '82.

Quarterfinals were at Greenville, against Newaygo. The weather was terrible, the trip was long. Not many Carrollton supporters made the trip. Early in the first quarter Newaygo took the lead and the Cavs had to battle their press for most of the game. Unfortunately, the Cavs couldn't regain the lead and fell from the tournaments by a score of 60-39. Newaygo went on to win the Class C State Championship.

All in all it was a fine season. The Lady Cavs ended the year with a record of 17-wins and 9 losses.

A GREAT YEAR FOR THE C.H.S. BAND

1984-85 proved to be the best year in the history of the Carrollton High School Band. Not only because of the many opportunities they have had to display their talent, but also because the C.H.S. band has shown its determination to become a first class band.

The normal schedule for the C.H.S. Band includes: 5 home football games, 10 girls and 10 boys basketball games, 1 homecoming parade, 3 concerts, District Band Festival, and commencement. The performances began on the first day of school and ended on the last day of regular classes. This is a total of 31 regular performances within 36 weeks of school. Needless to say, the band was very busy throughout the whole year.

However, there was more. The band was honored to play for the Presidential Rally at Tri-City Airport. Another added highlight was being chosen to play for the dedication of The Saginaw County Memorial. The most exciting event for the band was earning a First Division Rating in District Band Festival. This fine rating lead them on to State Band Festival where they earned a second division rating. Because this was the first time for Carrollton to go to state, they were able to make it a first-class trip. They stayed in The Holiday Inn at Houghton Lake and had a terrific time.

There is no doubt that the 1984-85 C.H.S. Band has proven its ability and given its all. Thanks goes to every member of the band and especially the director, Mr. Lichau. Without all the hard work that everybody put into the band and its progress, the year would not have been as successful.
